Food safety has caught the imagination of the country. However, most people are still ignorant about the dangers lurking under fresh produce that we consume every day. While importance of organic farming has been understood, it is still treated as expensive food meant only for High Networth Individuals. The mandate of this Round Table is to return a complete business plan to convert one district completely organic and make organic food within the reach of all consumers.

The discussion will close only when complete business plan is ready.
